At Bowman Gray

The School of Medicine was established at Wake Forest in 1902 where it operated as a two year school until 1941, when it was moved to Winston-Salem as a four year school. It was renamed the Bowman Gray School of Medicine of Wake Forest College in recognition of the benefactor who made the expansion possible.

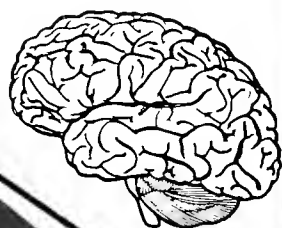

With The North Carolina Baptist Hospital, its teaching hospital, it is one of the foremost medical centers of the country.

GRAY MATTER

ANNALS—CLASS

Grammar school, high school, college training, medical school, internship, residency, private practice and refresher courses—we have commenced on the road toward our goal, the acquiring of the art of medicine. Four years ago we began the medical school phase of our journey, our class consisted of 56 members ranging in age from twenty to thirty years, from seventeen states, and representing the products of twenty-one colleges and universities of the nation.

On the first day of our journey together in October, 1951, the emotions ran the gamut from apprehension to exhilaration. Nobody was quite sure what to expect and what was expected of him, but everyone was determined to do his best—and make good if at all possible. Friendships were made that day which were destined to last and make the years more enjoyable.

Looking back over the first year of biochemistry, histology, anatomy, neuroanatomy, pathology and bacteriology, it is not easy to understand how so much could have been crammed into so little time. Perhaps the most unpleasant event in the curriculum was the writing of a book on somatics, which each of us was required to do in order to pass a one-hour course which went under the misnomer of "psychobiology." There were the more enjoyable facets which we like to remember—the feeding of the rats, the stomach tube, translating Dr. Artom's lectures, the lackadaisical methods of Dr. Groat in histology and neuroanatomy (thank goodness for the lab assistants and Quimby Simmons—when they were there!), and in pathology and bacteriology, the true friends of the medical students, Dr. Morehead and the Drs. Tuttle, whose A.B.C. lectures were received like manna from heaven—Dr. Beamer also lectured!! It was not all work by any means; trips over Academy (The Bunny Trail) to Salem, the Demon Docs on the courts and diamond, fraternity dances, and many parties. The most enjoyable event of the year was the class party at Camp Betty Hastings.

The summer of '52 came and went, our three months siesta was over and it was time to continue our journey. We began our second year with our number reduced by six. Our hearts were saddened by the death of one of our classmates, Warren Batell, of acute leukemia. His humor, good naturedness, and cheerful smile will long be remembered.

of FIFTY-FIVE

The second year of our journey was accomplished without too much difficulty, for we had become more seasoned and knew the ropes. We paced through a veritable forest of system pathology, bacteriology, physiology and pharmacology (with special emphasis on the dog as taught by Happy Harold), the humorous lectures in toxicology, and the fascinating study of SEX, both psychiatrically and genetically speaking. Then came the memorable third quarter of the second year! We will always remember Dr. Prichard's course in the History of Medicine, costumed lectures and all. This was the preview of our last two years. In physical diagnosis we had our skill?? of percussion confirmed by a fluoroscopy, exposed ourselves to T.B. in the county sanatorium, endured a squeamish practice session of prostatic massage, and took our first complete history on real honest-to-goodness patients. In surgery we learned to scrub off lamp black blind-folded, and in obstetrics we learned that the story about the stork was designed to obscure the details of what really goes on—we'll wager the stork never heard of Mauriceau, Smellie and Veit, not to even mention Scanzoni.

Toward the end of the year our entire class enjoyed another social get-together at Camp Betty Hastings; it was really an event to remember, especially the superb job done by our master of ceremonies Danny Garfinkle and wife, Renee.

The day came for donning our new white uniforms and grappling with our little black bag; the clinical phase of our journey had begun and we found it necessary to make new adjustments to our environment. We received a meagre foretaste of what would be in store for us once this four year journey was over. We rotated through the various services—medicine, surgery, pediatrics, obstetrics and gynecology, and surgical specialties. We were amazed to find that there were actually clinical applications of the isolated factual textbook data we had learned in our basic science years. It was a good year, a year crammed full of nostalgic remembrances—ob call at 2 a.m., fluids in a.m., futile attempts to find time to study, scut work, CBC and urinalysis, holding retractors at surgery, type and cross-match, scut work, fifteen page histories and physicals, progress notes, ophthalmology paper, cultures and smears and scut work. Looking back over the third year we realize how much we learned and are grateful to those who kept prodding us, for we understand now, more than we could at that time, that worthwhile achievements are not easily attained.

*OPD Consultation

The last year began following a month of play. It was difficult to believe that we were finally in the home stretch, and we pursued our course with renewed vigor. The new hospital wing increased the patient load but with considerable griping the work went on. The scut work was considerably less than the year before and the surroundings were pleasant. We were sincerely grateful for the personal teaching obtained on the pediatric and medical services, and for the house officers who made an honest effort to teach. We recall the twenty-four hour periods on obstetrics and the time spent in the ob clinic (one tablespoon of vinegar to a quart of water), and the other clinics in the out-patient department, and although we were burdened with many routine duties, we are grateful for the practical experience obtained there. If we had remained at Graylyn longer than that week and a half, we might have had to remain there in another capacity for some time longer.

As we survey ourselves and the changes which have been ingrained in us, we must even be impressed with the modifications in our personal lives. We began with a total of twelve of the fifty married and these had four children. Now thirty-two are married and have a total of nineteen children.

Here at Bowman Gray the more important thing we acquire is a proper outlook, a philosophy of medicine. Our work here is only the beginning of our studies. As we leave, we hope that we do not leave the student life but that here we learned how to be a student. We are grateful for the Christian influence of our school and our teachers—we strive also to live a life of service.

As we leave Bowman Gray to embark on our internships and future practice we are confident that we have an excellent foundation for our further work. Our aim is to practice an art, think for ourselves and to be a credit to our school, our professors and ourselves.

Our better half, the wives club.

Doc, my left eye ain't never been quite right.

Dedication

DR. ROBERT W. PRICHARD

Assistant Professor of Pathology

With fond appreciation for his practical approach to the study of medicine with a conspicuous minimum of verbosity and a refreshing titer of directness and pointed humor, we, the graduating class of 1955, dedicate this edition of the Gray Matter to Dr. Prichard.

Under his stimulating tutorage we learned some of the complexities of hematology, discovered several remarkable uses for "shot-gun hematemics," and were told of an interesting ratio of I. Q. and Kahn titers in certain societies. We remember the ten foot long ties on certain commemorative days, and we also discovered that the History of Medicine can be most inspiring and interesting.

Dr. Prichard represents to us a man who embodies the real Art of Medicine.

THE BOWMAN GRAY STUDENT MEDICAL SOCIETY

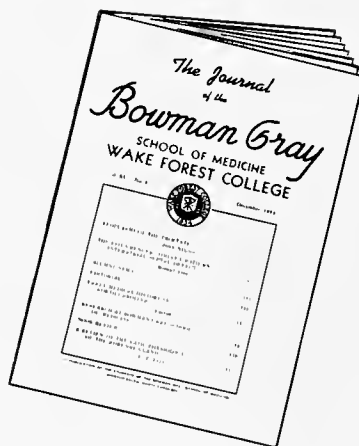

The Bowman Gray Student Medical Society was formed by incorporation of two student organizations—the Student Body and the Student American Medical Association. Its formation was prompted by the students realization of the need for one strong group, with adequate financial means to provide the students with the best possible program, both educational and social. In the spring of 1954 both organizations met and a new constitution was ratified by the student body.

Advisors: Faculty—Dr. Robert Prichard and Dr. Charles Norfleet. State Medical Society—Dr. Bennett Pool. Forsyth Co. Medical Society—Dr. J. F. Marshall.

Committee Chairmen: Student honor—Worth Boyce; Athletics—Bill Hedrick; Social—Bill McLain; Student Health—Worth Boyce; Publicity—E. P. Ellis; Finance—Charles Duckett; Internships—Dick Upton.

WHITE MATTER

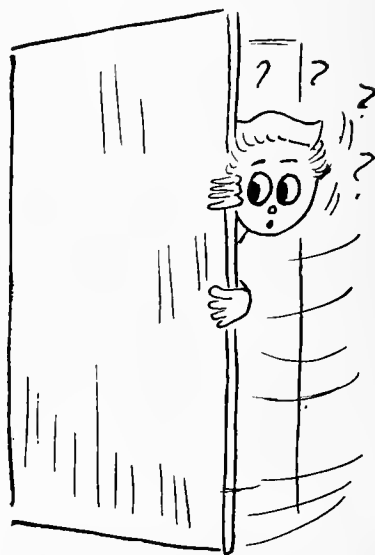

THE SCHOOL OF NURSING OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA BAPTIST HOSPITAL

MARY JANE GERALD
Editor

NANCY GOODSON
Business Manager

Preface

As the years of our life pile upon each other, the vibrant images once so familiar and clear begin to fade into the oblivion that is the past. Yet the memories that linger, after all the others have grown dim, are the poignant recollections of days enshrined in the walls of our Baptist Hospital. It is the hope of the staff that this book will become your treasure chest of memories, and may it recall the experiences in our nursing school that we all hold so dear.

BECAUSE OF THOSE

*It's because of those who love us,
Those we know do really care,
That this life is worth the living
With the sorrows we must share.*

*It's because of those who know us,
Those who always understand,
That we find the going easy
When we need a helping hand.*

*They are true friends who can take us
When we are not up to par,
And can still appreciate us
Just exactly as we are.*

—Oliver

Hold High The Torch

Hold high the torch!

You did not light its glow—

'Twas given you by other hands, you know.

'Tis yours to keep it burning bright,

Yours to pass on when you no more need light;

For there are other feet that we must guide,

And other forms go marching by our side;

Their eyes are watching every smile and tear

And efforts which we think are not worthwhile,

Are sometimes just the very helps they need,

Actions to which their souls would give most heed:

So that in turn they'll hold it high

And say, "I watched someone else carry it this way."

If brighter paths should beckon you to choose,

Would your small gain compare with all you'd lose?

Hold high the torch!

You did not light its glow—

'Twas given you by other hands, you know.

I think it started down its pathway bright,

The day the Maker said: "Let there be light."

And He once said, who hung on Calvary's tree—

"Ye are the light of the world." . . . Go! . . . Shine for me.

MRS. VIRGINIA RIVERS

In Fondest Dedication

We present the 1955 White Matter to Mrs. Virginia Rivers, in recognition of her guidance and understanding, her wise and friendly counsel to all who seek it. Her short quick steps, and her smiling face have made her an irrevocable and almost legendary part of the spirit that is Baptist Hospital. Her interest and encouragement have greatly influenced our development as nurses. We hope that the dedication of this annual may express to her, in a measure, our appreciation for her faithfulness so vital to us in having happy and successful days as student nurses.

Memoirs of the Class of '55

As we look back through these past three years, we finally realize that those first few months of excitement, enthusiasm, doubts, and even fears were not in vain. At last we are beginning to know the true meaning of "service" and the feeling of being able to do it.

On August 28, 1952, sixty-three wide-eyed frightened young girls from all parts of Eastern U. S. A. noisily pounced upon Victoria Courts and the Nurses Home at North Carolina Baptist Hospital and slowly but surely, with much guidance, stepped into the hospital routine. The ole favorite for practice was the nursing arts lab and the least appetizing of course was anatomy lab, just before supper too!!!

Classes that seemed so long and the books that had been used were closed without regrets while we all vacationed . . . for Christmas. Then we took turns at working our first full week on the floors. This, I suppose, is when we really began feeling a part of the "team." We too found that all men dressed in white were not medical students and that when one said "Hey, nurse" that meant us!

Who could ever, in the class of '55 forget the beautiful night of May 29, 1953? The excitement of fixing the hair to go with "a cap"—the glory of marching down the aisle with burning candles—You'd have thought it was an end to something but actually it was only the beginning.

To follow tradition and to satisfy that old longing for a golden tan, we too, decorated shuffle-board beach and the garage roof. We also became aware of the duties bestowed upon a full-time nurse and were initiated to night-duty and the diet kitchen. Oh! for an electric beater for the egg-nogs and milkshakes.

Our junior year brought all our other specialties and many feelings of "where is the end and where did I begin." All the girls at the courts moved to the nurses home and, too, this time brought wedding bells for many. Those who married and stayed with us are up for many congratulations—So here they are: Barbara J., Emily M., Betsy B., Mike W., Ann L., Thetus K., Dot W., and Mrs. Tabor . . . still hope for us all too, huh, girls?

The junior-senior went off with a bang and we almost forgot the hours of cooking hot dogs, cutting onions, and selling that made it all possible. Of course our talent show was the topping and seemed to be enjoyed by all—especially Dr. Prince—Thanks to all!

At last, September brought black bands and we wondered how our caps ever looked so bare without them. We each welcomed the charge duty and privileges these signs of sophistication brought. Then too—off to the "Hill" and our training in psychiatry—a little social life on the side, of course!

By this time many of us are just beginning to realize why we are really becoming nurses. We, too, find ourselves more matured in these three short years and can only be thankful for the chance of having lived together and for having shared so much.

As we go out each of us are making big plans—not the same plans but just as big to each of us as individuals. The many diamonds tell us that before and after graduation many will become happy housewives and average citizens. Others of us may go forward seeking new or broader fields and thus pave the way to better our beloved profession. But, until our class meets again we shall hold dear every moment we have spent as students at North Carolina Baptist Hospital School of Nursing.

Last Will and Testament

After much thought and careful consideration, the Seniors have decided to leave the following:

Emily Allen: A few inches of extra height to Phyllis Martin.

Kay Arrington and Dot Lucus: Their blue room to a couple of deserving Seniors.

Wanda Aman: Escalators for the nurses home.

Jean Ayers: The wish that Wake Forest were across the street.

Barbara Barron: Her reducing pills and diet for the unfortunate.

Becky Blackard: The nursery to Mrs. Cheshire.

Flo Edwards: The student's handbook to Peggy Goode.

Vera Sue Ellis: Miles and miles between her and N.C.B.H.

Emily Flowers: A swimming pool for Shuffle-board Beach.

Betty Snyder: Sand, complete with a cabana, for the Beach.

Mary Jane Gerald: A year's supply of aspirin for next year's annual staff.

Thetus Keith: Just to go with Billy.

Irene Hric: Her eagerness to go on to bigger things.

Ann Linthicum: A self-pronouncing dictionary for folks with long last names.

Sara Lynn Jolly: As soon as possible (with Bill).

Barbara Jarvis: A place to sleep for the married girls on O. R. call.

Michael Wilson: Her love for the Navy to other girls who marry sailors.

Shirley Robbins: Winston-Salem—She prefers Rocky Mount.

Juanita Morris: An electric typewriter to next year's annual typist.

Naomi Riddle: Self-revolving foster frames for preserving future discs.

Sue Surret: The hope that they move the Y.M.C.A. behind the Nurses Home.

Dot Gregory: Her contagious smile to sour-pusses.

Lib Gurley and Mary Ann Burrus: Their gold-fish to other fish lovers.

Barbara Jones, Rebecca Sheets and Peggy Ward: Their first million to build a new Nurses Home.

Nancy Goodson: Her second million to buy furniture for the new Nurses Home.

Rose Waynick: To marry Bill.

Betsy West: O.R. gowns designed by Christian Dior.

Sarah West: Private telephones in each student's room.

Peggy Barrow: Her pet peeve—night duty—to a better woman than she.

Rachel Roberts: Her car to other married students who live out.

Nan Wilson: Her quiet unassuming manner to those who need it.

Dot Montieth: Her shutterbug fever to those strong enough to take it.

Ellen Tabor: Her ability to get things done to all rising Seniors.

Joanna Ray: Her leopard skin belt and collar to other "catwomen."

Jo Ann Linney: Her ability to sleep all day to those who need the rest.

Phyllis Harris: Her ability to read something with meaning to those who can't.

Audrey Harris: Her bus schedule to others who go home at the drop of a hat.

Johnnie Badgett: Her "ring-tailed floozy" to those who have no pet saying.

Carolyn Bryant: Some of her shyness to those who could use some.

Doris Ann Edwards: Her professional manner to the deserving Juniors.

Jo Ann Bradley: Her enjoyment of a good time to every student nurse.

Marilyn Bridgers: Her efficiency to those who can't "organize their work."

Sue Cargile: Her naturally curly hair to the less fortunate.

Nancy Burris: Her 4½ B shoes to those who wish their's were.

Jo Anne Butler: Her sweet disposition to those in need.

Martha Suggs: A three-room pine-paneled apartment to married students.

Emily Maner: Her drawl to other Southern Belles.

Betty DeBoard: Her mystery — how to get to Grassy Creek—unsolved.

Carol Compton: The art of getting pinned at the Hill to those who'd like to.

Barbara Carmichael: Her posters to who gets stuck with them.

The entire Senior Class leaves the hope that all might enjoy their Senior year as much as we did.

Pictures fancied by my eye,
Memories treasured by my heart,
Groped in vain for words
Their meaning to impart.

Memories will linger ever near
Of faces soon to fade from view;
As each one turns to separate ways
To try his special work to do.

We each have a part to play
Learned from the very start
And as we go about our task
May every deed come directly from our heart.

To the Class of '55 . . .

With sincere appreciation of the trust placed in us by the Physicians, Nurses and Institutions which for more than ninety-seven years we have been privileged to serve, we bespeak for you as you launch upon your careers of service to mankind, the same full share of public confidence and trust which has inspired us to greater efforts all through the years.

May you always "Look up and not down—forward and not backward"—and may your guiding light be "First consideration for others."

Important Message for Busy Doctors!

● Doctors, Surgeons and Dentists are pausing from their busy practices to learn the facts about Security Life's new, low net cost Business and Professional Special.

This plan is especially designed to provide maximum protection at low net cost. Issued only in amounts of $10,000 or up with the resulting savings passed on to you. High cash and loan values are available after the first year. Excellent dividends are paid annually; extra dividends at end of 10 years and every 5 years thereafter. Proceeds may be taken under attractive settlement options. Double Indemnity, Waiver of Premium, and Income Disability features are available.

This is one of the finest insurance plans you can buy, so call your local Security Life Representative today. Have him explain fully the advantages of this Special low net cost plan of life insurance.

Remember, too, Security Life and Trust Company, now in its 35th year, had a greater net gain of ordinary life insurance-in-force in its home state of North Carolina in 1953 than any other company. You can be sure when you "Face the Future with Security."
